

HIS Hawaii Opens The Consignment Garage in Aiea - Japanese Tour Company diversifies and expands into a local style business -

Hawaii HIS Corporation (dba HIS Hawaii) soft-opened The Consignment Garage at Harbor Center in Aiea. This is the company's new effort in reaching out to local community, outside of its existent tour business, and this store will focus mainly on sporting/exercising goods and outdoor equipment, which is favored as local people's leisure.

Store location: Harbor Center in Aiea

The Consignment Garage will consign mainly sporting goods (surfing, fishing, beach activity, football, baseball, and etc.), exercising equipment (bench, weights, bars, racks, pulley equipment, treadmills, and etc.), and outdoor equipment. The store will shelf, clean, and market the items. When the items are sold, the sales will be split 50% to the owner and the other 50% to the store.

Gavin Wilson, Store Manager of The Consignment Garage says "With our new effort in reaching out to local community through this consignment store, outside of the existent tour business at HIS Hawaii, we believe we are able to offer not only affordable purchases of sporting and exercising goods, but also and more importantly, contribute to sustainability of our local community by extending each product life. As a consignment store as well as a family member of HIS Hawaii, we will always seek new ways to malama (give back) to the community here in Hawaii."

How the consignment program works:

Owner of the product(s) brings the item(s) to the store

- If deemed for sale, the store will shelf the item(s) for the next 90 days
- If not deemed for sale, the item(s) will be returned to the owner

The item(s) will be shelved for the next 90 days

- If sold during the period, the sales will be split 50% to the owner and the other 50% to the store
- Checks to be mailed out on the first of each month

If not sold in the 90 days, the owner has 10 days to pick up the item(s)

- If not picked up within the 10 days, the item(s) will be automatically donated to the store

People interested in consigning are welcomed to send the store Text/Email/DM at its social media:
